Pen Guard Thwarts Attempt at Escape By 2 Richland Men

Pair From County, Third Inmate Cut Screen, Try To Scale Wall At Columbus.

Two Richland county convicts and a third from Cuyahoga county were trapped early yesterday in the Ohio State penitentiary, three hours after their escape plot was thwarted by an alert prison guard.

They had cut their way out of a cell block and were attempting to scale the prison walls when a guard heard them and called an alarm, the Associated Press reported.

Warden Frank D. Henderson listed the men as Alvin Guthrie and Roy James, both of Richland county, and Louis Hardin, of Cuyahoga county. Guthrie, 35, was indicted for auto theft last Feb. 26. After observation at the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, he was found sane. Last June he pleaded guilty and received a sentence of five to 30 years for auto theft, second offense.

James, 30, was placed on probation in Richland county in September, 1945, on charges of non-support, and on Oct. 5, 1945, was convicted of violating his probation and received a one-to-three-year sentence.

Probation Officer Ralph Hughes said James escaped from the London prison farm several months ago, and was subsequently captured.

Hardin, 30, was sentenced in May, 1945, to one to 15 years on an attempted burglary charge.

Use Wire Clippers.

The three men used wire clippers to cut their way out of the third tier of a cell block. After their escape was discovered, prison guards searched for more than three hours before the men were trapped in the woolen mill of the prison.

Warden Henderson said heavy steel screen just above the flooring was cut with the wire clippers, which had pieces of pipe attached to increase the leverage.

A heavy chain fastening a door was snipped to reach the south corridor, where they cut a hole in the steel screening of the block to reach the first floor of the building.

Then the men climbed pipes to reach a third story window and, using a rope and hook fashioned from a piece of pipe, dropped to the ground in the courtyard.

Try To Scale Wall.

Warden Henderson said apparently the men travelled almost the entire length of the prison to reach the north wall, where they sought to throw a hook onto the top of the wall.

He said the sound of the hook attracted the attention of a guard in the northwest tower. Guards were placed outside the wall, and a search of the prison grounds was begun.

The first man was captured at 5:45 a. m. and the last at 6:15 a. m. The escape was discovered at 3 a. m.

VA LEASES MORE SPACE

Mansfield Soon to Become Center of Activities For 10 Counties.

Another Mansfield service will soon be expanding to make Mansfield the center of Veteran's Administration activities for 10 counties.

G. D. Weidemaier, manager of the Mansfield sub-regional Veterans administration office, disclosed today that a lease has been negotiated with Lemley and Welsh of Mansfield for space on the second floor of the new Kroger building near completion on Park avenue west.

The VA will occupy the entire second floor of the structure, Weidemaier said. It thus will be provided with floor space of about 9,000 feet as compared to the office's present 1,400 to 1,500 feet.

"This expansion will enable the VA to decentralize and offer the veterans a wider variety of service at the local level," Weidemaier said.

"We hope to acquire our new offices by February."

Counties In Area.

VA's present jurisdiction covers Richland, Ashland, Huron, Marion, Crawford, Wyandot, Morrow, Knox, Coshocton, and Holmes counties.

First established in Mansfield as a contact office in May, 1945, the VA was made a sub-regional office in March 1946. It has expanded from a staff of two to 26 employes.

Among services handled are veteran's insurance, claims, GI training forms, requests for out patient treatment, on-the-job and institutional training under the GI Bill (Public Law 346), and the rehabilitation of disabled veterans under Public Law 16.

5 PER CENT HIKE IN RENT TALKED

WASHINGTON —(UP)— OPA officials indicated today that the agency seriously is considering a blanket nation-wide increase in rent ceilings.

One official reiterated that the flat 15 per cent raise asked by the OPA rent industry advisory committee was "out of the question," but there were signs that a letter boost, possibly five per cent across the board, was in the works.

Ivan Carson, OPA rent control director, declined to comment.

An informed OPA official said the agency, with its dwindling staff, "simply couldn't handle" the deluge of applications that would result if new policy merely liberalized individual adjustments.

Even under its strict rent control policy, he said, OPA has granted nearly 1,000,000 separate adjustments since 1942.

This official maintained that a flat increase of 15 per cent would constitute "a windfall" to most landlords, the vast majority of whom, he said, would never be able to justify the petition on an individual appeal.

OPA has held that house and apartment owners have experienced better-than-normal profits under control. New rental surveys undertaken since decontrol, however, may produce different results, officials concede. Privately some are expecting the surveys to show that landlords have been hit hard by rising costs, a point the property owners have thus far hammered in vain.

EMPLOYES GO BACK TO JOBS AT HUMPHRYES

3-Day Work Stoppage Ends as Union, Management Confer Today at Plant.

Most of the 250 production workers idled by a dispute over the separation of two employes at the Humphryes Manufacturing company plant last week were back on the job today as company and union officials negotiated for settlement.

Harry J. Dotson, Humphryes personnel director, said he and other company officials and Forrest Payne, business agent of Local 758, United Electrical Workers (CIO), and other union leaders, met for nearly three hours this morning.

Shortly before noon Dotson announced that agreement on one of three issues in dispute had been reached.

Metting Continues.

"We will continue negotiating this afternoon on the other two factors to be settled. Most of the workers are back and production is being resumed," he said.

Payne could not be reached for comment.

The work stoppage, called a "lockout" by Payne said by Harry G. Dotson, company personnel director, to be a violation of a company-union agreement, arose over the separation of two workers, one a union steward, from their jobs.

Payne said the two men—father and son—were "fired" while Dotson claimed that the father (the union steward) was ousted for insubordination and use of profane language and that the son left his job when the father was discharged.

Dead Pilot's Hand Still Grips Stick

BURBANK, Calif.—(AP)—A dead pilot's hand still grips the controls of the Western Air Lines plane which crashed Wednesday, with 11 persons aboard, against the snowy peak of White Mountain.

Ventura county Dep. Sheriff Dolney Cummings, leader of a group which yesterday made an unsuccessful effort to recover the bodies, reported finding five badly burned corpses inside the wreckage.

Because no attempt at identification was made, Cummings said, he was unable to determine whether the hand on the controls was that of Capt. Garrel Miller, 34, Van Nuys, pilot, or First Officer Ted Mathis, 25, Whittier, Copilot.

Coal Orders Swamp Mansfield Dealers

Telephones rang lustily and coal rolled out of Mansfield coal dealers' yards today as a combination of colder weather and an impending nation-wide strike of soft coal miners threatened to clean out supplies by the end of the week.

In general, coal dealers reported heavier calls for coal today than any day this fall. Supplies averaged 100 tons per dealer.

Coal is being rationed to essential agencies and institutions and to individual buyers who can convince the dealer they have less than 10 days' supply left.

Most of the dealers surveyed predicted a bleak outlook for those persons who failed to buy fuel last summer. One dealer was of the opinion that "the majority" of coal users have coal in their basements to last them well into the winter."

* * *

Blast Lewis.

None of the dealers had kind words for John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who threatens to call a strike of all soft coal miners at midnight Wednesday.

"You can't predict what John L. Lewis will do," Emmett W. Casey said. "He's buffaloed the government several other times and he might do it again.

"The coal dealers have had to contend with strikes for three years now and we're getting fed up on it," Casey aided.

Others voiced similar disapproval, one of them saying:

"Someone's got to decide who's boss of this country. The strike in the spring put us behind, and we were barely caught up when this comes along. Lewis is ruining the coal business and doing the miners more harm than good in the long run."

Along with the rationing order came further instructions to coal dealers from Vaughn Thorne, secretary of the Ohio Coal Conference at Columbus today.

Reporting a telephone conversation with Thorne this morning, Frank A. Voegele, Mansfield coal dealer, said dealers are permitted to deliver up to a truckload of coal if a good supply is on hand. If dealers are short of coal, deliveries must be limited to one or two-ton lots, depending on the supply. This system, Voegele said, is for the purpose of getting coal to as many users as possible.

SPUDS INVOLVED IN COURT CASE

Nearly 3,000 bushels of new potatoes on the James Swisher farm, Bellville-Johnsville road, must be sold soon in order to settle a law suit Swisher filed against James Nether who leased 91½ acres in order to raise the crop of spuds, parties to the suit said today.

Nether owes him $2,287 in rental fees. Nether was to pay him the rent on or about Sept. 1 when the potatoes were dug, but has failed to do so, the petition charges.

Nether's answer declares that the amount of rent is in dispute and denies another Swisher charge that he (Nether) is removing the potatoes from the barn on the farm with intent to defraud the plaintiff of his rental fees.

Attorneys for the two parties —C. J. Kalbfleisch for Swisher and J. H. Gongwer for Nether—agreed this morning that the potatoes must be promptly sold in order to save them from spoilage. Kalbfleisch said that the potatoes would be sold at the farm (Bellville, R. D. 2, east of Lexington) and the proceeds impounded pending settlement of the case.

Value of the 3,000 bushels of potatoes has been appraised at approximately $4,000.

2 Killed, 11 Hurt As 5 Homes Burn

ASHLAND, Ky. —(INS)— Fire of undetermined origin that swept through a block of five residential buildings left two persons dead and 18 families homeless at Ashland today.

At least 11 other persons suffered minor burns in the blaze Sunday as approximately 71 residents of the block were forced to flee in their night clothes.

WAGE BATTLE COMING, SAYS CIO'S MURRAY

Eighth Annual Convention Opens With Union Ready to Reject Communism.

(From N-J Wire Services)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—President Philip Murray opened the CIO's eighth convention today by declaring that the coming wage struggle was the convention's main concern.

In an extemporaneous keynote speech before an estimated 600 delegates, the 60-year-old labor leader pinned the blame for last winter's strikes on the industrialists. He said no CIO union "precipitated a strike."

He began by saying this would be one of the most important of all CIO conventions. He also declared it would be a "unified" convention.

Union spokesman said a resolution resenting and rejecting "efforts of the communist party or other political parties" from interfering in the affairs of the CIO was ready for presentation today to the 8th annual convention.

* * *

Answer to Slanders.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO said the "declaration of policy" drawn up and unanimously approved by the executive board "provides an answer to the slanders that have appeared . . . That the CIO is communist-dominated."

Six hundred delegates to the convention, representing every affiliate of the CIO, were expected to vote approval of the resolution which bars communism within their ranks.

Three right wing and three left wing delegates including Murray met for two days on the draft of the resolution which says in part:

"The CIO as an American organization has no interest apart from the interest of our people and our country. We stand opposed to all forms of oppression and in favor of the four freedoms."

Upon surrender of the leftist leaders, the anti-communist forces killed more than a score other resolutions on communism which one CIO official described as "the hottest we've ever had."

Murray said the statement "embodies all that the executive board desires on the communist issue."

These subjects also stood out importantly on the convention agenda:

More steam behind the southern organizing drive.

A more effective political action committee.

Bullets Whiz Above Head of Prowling Boy

Two shots, fired into the air by police, failed to halt a 15-year-old Dunbilt court "prowler" late last night but officers today were wagering he'll think twice before he again goes poking around homes after dark.

Officers were called out about 11 p. m. yesterday on a report that there was a "prowler" in the Dunbilt court area. Two officers "surrounded" the area.

One spotted him and ordered him to halt. When he refused, the officer fired a shot into the air. The boy kept going. A second officer spotted him and another shot was fired.

Police then discovered that the frightened lad had ducked into the rear of his home. A "conference" with the boy's parents on the dangers of after-dark—although innocent—prowling brought a promise that he'll be kept to home after the sun goes down.

SON BORN TO DEGNANS

CHICAGO —(UP)— Mrs. James E. Degnan, mother of Suzanne Degnan, 6, who was kidnaped and murdered by William Heirens last January, was resting comfortably today after giving birth to a son Saturday night. The infant weighed seven pounds, one ounce.

Coal-Burning Railroads Are Ordered to Curtail Passenger Travel.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The government today obtained a temporary injunction requiring United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis to uphold his end of the contract with the government for operation of the soft coal mines.

Judge T. Alan Goldsborough signed the temporary restraining order against Lewis and his union in response to a petition filed by Attorney General Tom Clark.

The action came as the Office of Defense Transportation ordered coal burning railroads to reduce their passenger service by 25 per cent, effective next Monday, because of the threatened stoppage in soft coal production.

The court proceedings were designed to prevent the nation-wide soft coal mining shutdown threatened for Thursday.

A Justice department spokesman merely said that the charges upon which the government based its petition would be made available as quickly as possible.

* * *

Miners Quitting.

The injunction was obtained as miners answered the government's "stay-at-work" plea without wildcat walk-outs in many areas.

It was presumed that the government suit was based upon the contention of Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, backed up by Clark, that Lewis could not legally terminate his present contract with the government.

Lewis, on advice of his own legal counsel, maintained the position that the contract was reopenable and that it could be terminated at his will.

On this basis, he had served notice upon Krug that he was terminating the contract as of Wednesday night.

The court ordered a hearing Nov. 27 on the government request for a permanent injunction.

* * *

Expires Nov. 27.

It provided that, "unless before such time the order for good cause shown is extended, or unless the defendants consent that it be extended for a longer period," the temporary order shall expire at 3 p. m. on that date.

In its temporary order, the court recognized the "no contract-no work" policy of the United Mine Workers and said that "the resultant stoppage in bituminous coal production will cause great loss and irreparable damage" to the government.

The court also held that "such stoppage will directly interfere with governmental operations and sovereign functions, and will adversely affect great public interest, and will seriously endanger the public welfare and safety."

In his order, Goldsborough provided that the defendants "and each of them and their agents, servants, employes and attorneys, and all persons in active concert or participation with them, be and they are hereby restrained pending further order of this court from permitting to continue in effect the notice heretofore given by the defendant John L. Lewis to the secretary of interior dated Nov. 15, 1946." This was Lewis' notice terminating the contract.

The order restrains the UMW chief and the union from issuing or otherwise giving publicity to any notice that the present Krug-Lewis agreement has been, is, or will at some future date be terminated, or become void at any time during government possession of the mines.

518 DIE IN FLOOD ON NEGROS ISLAND

MANILA —(UP)— The Manila bulletin estimated today that at least 518 persons were dead or missing in unprecedented floods which inundated West Central Negros island following a severe tropical typhoon.

Philippine Red Cross officials said 21 persons were killed by the typhoon in Cebu and Visayas, and that 22 were missing in Negros and Oriental. Two hundred houses were destroyed.

TROOPS TO LEAVE

LONDON—(INS)—The Daily Express reported from Cairo today that Egyptian Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha had obtained a British promise to withdraw all troops from Egypt by Sept. 1, 1947. The dispatch said the British had agreed to evacuate Cairo, Alexandria and the Nile delta by March 31, 1947.

SALESTE QUITS AT ST. JOHN'S

Pastor Resigns to Rejoin Drake University Faculty.

Dr. Paul H. Saleste yesterday resigned his pastorate at St. John's Evangelical church after more than 17 years of ministry here.

Dr. Saleste will return to Drake university, Iowa, as professor of psychology, a position he held from 1925 to 1929. Although his resignation does not become effective until Jan. 1, he will assume his professorship Dec. 2.

After leaving Drake university, Dr. Saleste joined the faculty of Findlay college. It was while on the staff there, in September, 1929, that he began preaching at the Mansfield church.

Prior to his Des Moines faculty work, he had taught psychology at the University of Oklahoma.

Dr. Saleste was graduated from McCormick seminary at Chicago, receiving his BD degree. He later earned his Ph. D. degree from Ohio State university.

No action has as yet been taken by the congregation as to Dr. Saleste's successor.

TRUMAN'S PARTY RULE WAVERING

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Signs multiplied today that President Truman will have difficulty getting united Democratic support for whatever legislative program he submits to the new Republican-dominated congress in January. If he hopes to win it, he may have to drop many past proposals.

Democratic leaders, still groggy from the Republican election landslide, have delayed any move to organize their forces for their new role in the minority.

They apparently are agreed, however, that Mr. Truman will write the official party program in his state of the union message. They semmingly have no intention of attempting to fix objectives, as the Republicans of both house and senate already have done.

Mr. Truman has given no concrete indication ye. of the direction he intends to pursue in his recommendations, except to urge that the legislative and executive branches co-operate for the welfare of the nation.

But southern Democrats who haven't gone along in the past with many of the president's proposals openly hope that Mr. Truman won't bring up again such leftovers from the late President Roosevelt's agenda as anti-poll tax and anti-lynching legislation and proposals to establish a permanent fair employment practices commission.

Keep Dark Glasses Handy For Partial Sun Eclipse Soon

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The naval observatory announced today that a partial eclipse of the sun will be visible Saturday over most of the United States and Canada.

Caused by a portion of the moon's shadow sweeping over the earth, the eclipse is expected to be seen from the observatory here between 10:50 a. m. and 1:55 p. m. (EST).

The eclipse will cover about 78 per cent of the sun near the Arctic circle and Greenland.

Mercury Drops To 25; More Cold Coming

Mansfield was nipped by a sample of winter today as the coldest weather of the season invaded Ohio, dropping the mercury as low as 18 degrees in some sections of the state and into the low 20s in Richland county.

Another cold wave is forming in the Canadian northwest and probably will reach Ohio Thursday or Friday, the weatherman said.

Its approach brought a renewal of warnings to motorists to fill their automobile with anti-freeze.

The Ohio Public Service company's Longview substation reported a low of 25 this morning, but unofficial readings in the county were as low as 23.

It was 18 above at Archbold, in northwestern Ohio, and 24 at Cleveland. The temperature was due to climb a little today and tomorrow with some cloudiness developing tomorrow.

Winchell — On Broadway

ETHEL BARRYMORE was trying out a new play in Canada prior to a New York opening . . . In the play, "White Oaks," there was a part of an eight-year-old boy . . . The Canadian Gerry Society (like our SPCC) refused to allow a child to play the part . . . Frantically, Miss Barrymore phoned her agent in New York to rush a girl (over 18) who could play it . . . When the girl arrived, Miss Barrymore looked at her, said simply: "Raise your skirt." The girl obliged . . . Miss Barrymore gave a sigh of relief "Everyone in the Barrymore family is bowlegged. Just wanted to make sure you weren't!" . . . The girl was so good opening night that after the show officials stormed backstage and demanded to see the Boy. Only a physical examination (by a woman of the society) convinced them she was really a girl . . . Today that girl, who started her stage career as an eight-year-old boy, is a Broadway hit as "the sexiest gal in town." She plays the role of a tart in "The Ice Man Cometh"—Ruth Gilbert.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—I was one of the first to object to the New Deal union policy, which for years I have carefully refused to call a labor policy because I regarded that as a sly and deceptive misnomer. For the sake of argument, I will admit that I was one of the leaders in the long and, at last, successful, campaign to discredit the Wagner Act and expose the hidden iniquities of the political union movement. Senator Ball, of Minnesota, a Republican, formerly a political reporter and known as a Stassen liberal, is reported to have announced that he intends to move for a national open-shop law. Other members of the new congressional majority have in mind a number of remedial proposals, but as yet I have discerned no whole program of reform. I don't want to disparage the plans of these men in advance, but I do agree with some of the professional unioneers and my colleagues on the left that to disrupt the union movement suddenly would be to throw everything up for grabs.

What, then, does George Spelvin, American, suggest?

First of all, I would repeal the Wagner Act on the honest ground that it has failed in its professed purpose to facilitate and stimulate interstate and foreign commerce by developing strong unions which, in turn, would reduce strikes and other "labor disturbances" through reasonable bargaining between industry and the representatives of the union. I doubt that Senator Wagner ever sincerely believed his law would have that effect and I am convinced that he intended it as a pretext to develop a money-raising political subsidiary of the Roosevelt party. Possibly, he didn't fully foresee the evil effects of this development, but he is neither stupid nor blind and not even he can have the effrontery to say today that his law has achieved its professed purpose, or to deny the effects it did produce.

* * *

AS A SUBSTITUTE we might adopt a federal law forbidding employers to discriminate against workers because, all other things being equal, they are members of unions or because they advocate the organization of unions to represent those who desire to join. When I say "other things being equal," I mean to provide that an incompetent or mischevious fellow should not be protected in his job by his union card, as the case has been under the Wagner act. Then, as a balance, we should decide, as the voters of three states did recently, that an employer in interstate commerce must not discriminate against an applicant or an actual employe because he refuses to join a union or drops his membership. This is called the "open shop" law, usually in a very nasty tone of voice. It has its faults, as some respectable intellectuals have pointed out in very studious books and papers. But Mrs. Frances Perkins herself once approved the open-shop in principle in a quick and mumbled paragraph of a speech to a national convention of the American Federation of Labor. She thought persons who would refuse to join and pay their share of the money and sacrifice for benefits won by organization must be queer ones, but admitted that even queer ones have rights and that one of these rights was involved here. She seemed sheepish about this heresy and, as far as I know, never mentioned it again.

The present situation makes union officials lazy, pompous, luxurious and bossy. When they had to hustle for members and win over the individuals by appealing to their self-interest and nobility, they earned their money and unionism was a cause. But under the Wagner Act, the government drove millions of workers into their unions as cow-pokes herd cattle and all they had to do was collect the dues, help themselves to big salaries and enjoy their importance. They came to regard the rank and file as subjects, not fellow-workers, and some unions have special laws recognizing the untouchability and personal preciousness of these high officials.

They became kings, really. The worker knew he had to be a member or be a bum and anyone can see how this equation would affect the vain and selfish personalities of fools. The union kings thought they were working when they went royally around the country, not forgetting the gambling season in Florida, making speeches, receiving their local and regional viceroys and accepting homage from politicians who were dependent on the organized union vote and union campaign contributions. Because many of them are ignorant old loafers, their minds cluttered with a rubbish of old slogans and excerpts from court decisions, they turned out in their official union publications some of the most alarming nonsense ever put on paper and circulated it at the expense of their subjects as personal propaganda

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON—(UP)—I am in position today to discourse authoritatively on fir-lined bathtubs and the art of sprouting hair on bowling balls.

The biggest fellow I ever did see hove into town, intent on mowing down housing administrator Wyatt. I asked him where was Babe, his blue ox?

He denied ownership. He also denied that he was Paul Bunyan He said he was Arthur W. Priaulx of Portland, Ore., and the West Coast Lumbermen's association. The membership, he said, considers Wyatt a menace. (Wyatt has heard this before; not true, he says.)

So the giant in the broad-brimmed hat got to talking about the wonders of the northwest, insisting at intervals that his name was not either Bunyan. All I can say is, read on:

"Why sure," he said, "we make fir-lined bathtubs. Better than steel and prettier. We take a sheet of wood and we force out the resin. Then we force in liquid plastics and stamp her down in the shape of a tub and compress her and what have we got? The finest bathtub man ever sat in. With a beautiful polish, a warm feel on a fellow's back, and proof against anything. Kind of a cross between marble and steel."

* * *

I MADE THE MISTAKE of mentioning his head of black hair, thicker than an Oregon beaver's.

"Easy," he said. "There is a fellow, who grows rabbits at St Heles, Ore., name of Paul Brendenfels. Not Bunyan, Brendenfels. He mixed up a goo with sulfa and stuff to grow more hair on his rabbits. Seemed to work fine.

"He began to think, being bald as an eagle himself, that maybe it would work on him. It did. He rubbed it on and pretty soon he had a scalp of fine yellow hair, he being a blond originally. So the word got out and he began getting orders. That was last spring.

"Now he's a big business man. He's done a $400,000 gross already. Almost everybody in St. Heles is working for him, making hair tonic."

I wondered if he guaranteed it

"Guarantee it!" exclaimed my visitor. "Why with every bottle he sends along another smaller bottle of brilliantine so his customers can keep their new hair out of their eyes."

NEW CAR SALES IN COUNTY ON WAY UP AGAIN

Business So Far This Year Near the 1938 Mark, But Far Behind Peak.

More than 1,100 new cars were purchased by Richland countians during the first 10 months of this year, including a record post-war total of 199 during October, a check of title registrations revealed today.

Car sales, are nearing the 1938 mark—when 1,221 were purchased—but are far behind total sales in 1939-40-41. Total through October this year was 1,139.

However, sales of both cars and trucks have been increasing steadily since January when only 30 cars and 29 trucks were purchased.

New trucks purchased in October totaled 44 to put the 10-month tally at 278, a figure which far surpasses the 1938 total and it isn't far behind that of 1941. In 1941, 3212 new cars were registered.

Not Sure of Future.

Despite this comparatively bright picture, car dealers won't guarantee that it'll stay that way.

They ponder the question of continued increased deliveries on the basis of whether there'll be more strikes and whether relaxing of price controls means an increase in production.

Deliveries now are "holding steady," dealers report, but some of them are as much as a year behind in filling orders.

Leading the field in the county is Chevrolet with 183 cars sold during the first 10 months while Ford runs second with 165 and Plymouth third with 161.

Other leaders include Dodge, 126; Pontiac, 103, and Buick, 74. Other makes sold as follows:

Nash, 58; Oldsmobile, 57; Chrysler, 46; Studebaker, 44; DeSoto, 34; Hudson, 29; Packard, 22; Cadillac, 13; Mercury, 13; Willys, 5; Crosley, 3 and Willys Jeep, 3.

Big Gain This Year.

How production is getting back to normal can be seen by a comparison of the number of cars sold in all of 1945 with the '46 total. A total of 13 were sold that year of which five were 1946 models. Truck sales, however, totaled 109.

First of the new cars to appear in the county were two 1946 Fords, delivered in November, 1945. In October, 1945, however, four 1946 Chevrolet trucks were sold.

Among the leaders, Chevrolet got off to a slow start in the county having sold only three through April of this year. However, sales jumped to the minimum of 24 in May and climbed to an all-make high in August when 40 were sold. Now about 30 are sold a month.

Ford, however, leads the field in sales in January with 18, but went into slumps in March and June before holding steady at around 25 from July through October.

Plymouth also got off to a slow start but after March never slipped below 18-a-month while Dodge, also a slow starter, is now averaging about 15 a month

Girl Scout Leader Charges Boys Ruining Troop Garden

It takes a lot of time and planning to make a flower garden—but it takes only a few minutes to destroy it.

That's what 24 little 10-year-olds of Girl Scout Troop 37 are beginning to think. Last week, upon promotion from Brownies to full-fledged Girl Scouts, the youngsters got their first chance at planning a project. The project they chose was to plant a flower garden in front of Western avenue school.

They carried rocks for the border of the garden, busily spaded the ground and planted the bulbs and roots. And then . . .

"The boys, many of whom are in John Simpson Junior high and more who are Western avenue pupils, have already carried away the rocks and ruined the site," Mrs. C. C. Warner, troop leader, said today. "The girls chose the school site so that they could watch the garden when they were in school there, but the boys have made it very unpleasant for them."

In order to buy plants and bulbs for their garden, the new Scouts started out early to sell Christmas cards. Little by little, they saved enough to buy five dozen tulip bulbs, four peony plants and iris roots. Hearing of an offer of a New York concern to send chrysanthemums to any park department free of charge, the girls wrote for the seeds, which will be planted this week. This new type seed will produce blooms which will resist severe frost.

Mrs. Warner said that some of the parents of the troop members have offered to donate flowers from their homes for the project.

"The final planting of the garden will be held at 4 p.m. Tuesday and we hope that the boys' parents will hear of it so that this unnecessary destruction can be stopped," Mrs. Warner continued.

Assisting Mrs. Warner with the troop are Mrs. R. J. Hartman and Mrs. Glen L. Robinson

ALARM BLAMED ON COLD SNAP

This morning's cold snap was the indirect cause of the sounding of a false fire alarm at the Home Materials company on Orange street about 6:45 a. m. firemen reported.

Firemen also were called to extinguish a small blaze at the Kearns Packing company, on Wayne street, about 9 a.m. today.

The false alarm came when a furnace was re-ignited, causing a sharp jump in the temperature of a basement. The rapid heating set off an automatic alarm system.

At the packing company, firemen said an aged roof on a boiler room sagged until it touched heated smokestacks. Minor damage resulted to the roof, which the company is replacing, firemen said.

Firemen were called to the home of Frank A. Underwood, 422 Springmill street today about 12:15 p. m. to extinguish a minor blaze caused by lint in an air shaft. There was no damage, they said.

LEADER HOPES TO BEAT BLOC WITHOUT VOTE

Prime Minister Calls Debate in Commons to Settle Protest Issues.

LONDON —(UP)— Prime Minister Clement Attlee mustered his parliamentary forces to quell the protest within the Labor party against British foreign policy today in a special commons debate, which the protesting bloc hopes will end without the issue coming to a vote.

Government whips have ordered all labor party members to attend the debate. The government wants to show the world that Britain is overwhelmingly behind Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's policy.

R. H. S. Crossman, leader of the dissatisfied laborites who submitted the amendment to the king's speech which will be debated, indicated the debate may end without any decisive formal action.

"We merely wish the opportunity to be heard which hitherto has been denied us," Crossman said. "We realize any vote could be interpreted as an effort on our part to censure the government. We do not wish to force a vote of censure and our efforts are directed toward preventing any member from bringing the amendment to a vote."

If the amendment is put to a vote—possibly at the government's initiative — the labor party leaders are reportedly determined to call upon members to demonstrate their confidence in Bevin.

In the annual commons debate on the king's speech, a protesting minority often withdraws a critical amendment after stating its case in formal debate.

The amendment to be debated objects to British policy as being too firmly allied with American policy. Its sponsors fear the Attlee government is veering too much toward the United States, at the expense of Soviet-British cooperation.

The core of the insurgent group led by Crossman are anti-communist. They disavow support of a group of pro-communist extreme left-wing labor party members who have joined them.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Carnegie Tech is reviving its Steffen Memorial scholarship fund to give deserving football players a break. New York U. students are agitating for more convenient classroom schedules and other aids for athletes. Oklahoma City U. campaigned for more dough for football with rather gratifying results and now Iowa State colleges comes up with a student "club" with the aim of improving its athletic sature . . . The whole situation becomes slightly confusing when conference leaders, athletic directors and faculties are making strenuous efforts to control commercialism and give the ordinary students a chance on the teams and those same students start a movement calling for a member of the athletic staff to supervise scouting trips, for a scholarship fund "to be awarded for outstanding achievement in athletics" and similar features. Wonder what's the next move?

Seems one spectator was slightly affected by firewater and right behind him a girl, bothered by slightly less fiery warmth, sat with her coat on her lap . . . When Polidor started from the end zone, the gal jumped up excitedly. Her coat landed on the head of the previously mentioned gent . . . It was a great fight, Ma, and the fellow finally battled his way out from under the coat just after Polidor crossed the goal line.

Army Is Choice Of Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. —(U.P.)— Army is first choice as the guest team in the Orange bowl football game next New Year's day, the Bowl committee said today, but if the Cadets refuse, the top teams from the southwest and southeast will be matched.

No invitation has been proffered to Army yet, the committee spokesman said, but the Orange bowl is "extremely hopeful of luring Army here," it was said.

Georgia, Georgia Tech and Tennessee were mentioned as possible opponents of Army. One of that trio probably will be host against the winner of the Rice-Arkansas game if Army doesn't come to Miami, the spokesman said. Rice and Arkansas play on Thanksgiving day.

Invitations to the chosen teams will be extended some time after Thanksgiving.

Mansfield Near Top In Big Ten

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(INS Sports Writer)

Although Mansfield finished its 1946 grid schedule last Friday night, the Ohio high school football season raced to a smash ending today with a handful of week-end games and a few scattered Thanksgiving encounters remaining to provide a finishing fillip to a great year.

Mansfield stayed near the big ten by winding up its campaign with a 32-14 victory over Martins Ferry.

High on the list of concluding attractions this coming week-end are Cleveland's annual charity game and the traditional Canton McKinley-Massillon battle.

More than usual interest will be attached to the Cleveland game in which Cathedral Latin's Mighty Lions clash for a second time this year with Holy Name. The Namers held Herb Eisele's undefeated Lions to a prestige-damaging scoreless tie several weeks ago.

Holy Name won its way into the post-season fray with a combination of a 14-0 trouncing of West and the proper calling of a coin toss. The flip was necessary after the West victory left Holy Name and Lincoln deadlocked for the West Senate championship. Lincoln defeated the Namers earlier in the year.

Holy Name had little trouble with West, although a wet field held the scoring down. Versatile Tom Lanigan, who plays halfback, fullback or end, smashed to both touchdowns as a ball-carrier.

Meanwhile, Canton McKinley, once beaten and once tied, and Massillon, with two losses and a deadlock prepped for their annual contest with triumphs.

Bup Rearick's Bulldogs won their eighth victory against Lakewood, which was tied a week earlier. Passes from quarterback Pete Spera to Nick Stevenson, rangy end, accounted for both McKinley touchdowns.

Massillon rolled over rugged Youngstown East, 20 to 7. Halfback Gene Zarger scored all three Tiger touchdowns, reeling off runs of 85 and 41 yards and catching a pass in the end zone

Toledo's powerful neighbors, Waite and Libbey, both won easily in their last clashes before Turkey Day finales.

Waite, ranked first in the state, drubbed Devilbiss, 60 to 6. The win reflected the Indians improvement during the season since they whipped the same club 33-0 earlier.

Mansfield Tygers ended one of their most successful seasons last Friday night by completely subdueing a stubborn Martins Ferry eleven 32 to 14, to wind up the 1946 gridiron schedule with seven victories, two ties and one defeat.

Coach Paul Snyder's Bengals defeated Marion Harding, 32 to 13, Cleveland East, 7 to 6, Sandusky, 55 to 2, Portsmouth, 14 to 7, Springfield, 33 to 0, Youngstown Rayen, 24 to 19 and Martins Ferry

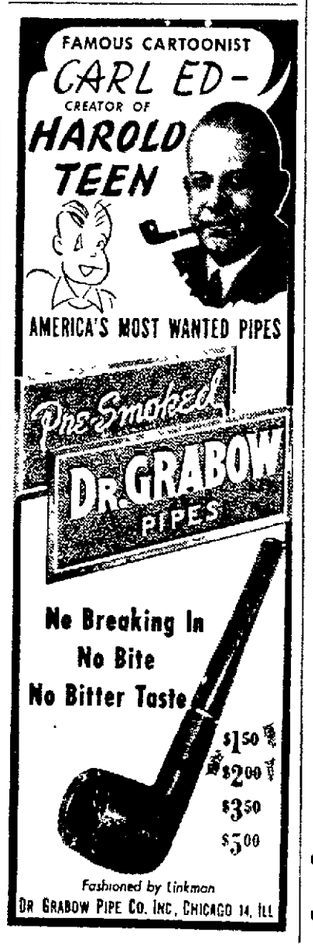
Mighty Massillon held the Tygers to a 12 to 12 deadlock, and Canton Timken fought the Snydermen to a 6 to 6 draw on a muddy, rainswept field. Toledo Waite defeated the Tygers, 32 to 7.

Libbey remained undefeated by dropping dangerous Barberton, 19 to 7. It was only the second defeat of the year for the magics.

Lima Central wound up the first undefeated season for any Lima school by handing its city rival, South, the worst defeat of their long series, 32 to 0 It was the tenth straight for Seraph Pope's Central club.

In oher top week-end games, New Philadelphia proved that there's no predicting results of its annual grudge fight with Dover. The Quakers upset the rival from across the river, 3 to 0, although Dover's record made it a heavy favorite.

Spotters and radio announcers have their problems when George Greene, end, and Floyd Greene, tackle, operate for Syracuse. They play alongside each other.



Ohio-Michigan Battle Is 43rd Between Midwestern Rivals

ANNUAL BATTLE—Annual battle between the midwest's greatest rivals, Michigan and Ohio State, is set up for settlement Saturday, in the Ohio Stadium before another packed house of some 78,000 fans. The meeting between the two schools is the 43rd. The series began in 1897. Michigan has won 27 and three games have been tied. Conference titles have hinged on many of the games. (International)

Banquet Held For Bulldogs

John Simpson junior high school football squad, 1946 city champions, will be entertained at a victory banquet at the Simpson cafeteria tomorrow night at 6 o'clock.

Coach Bob Kennedy announced today that William Mead will act as toastmaster with Mansfield Tyger head football coach, Paul Snyder, the principal speaker.

Harry Mehock will present the Tyger Booster club trophy to the Bulldogs. This trophy is won by the junior high champs. Simpson gained the right to the 1946 crown by demolishing Johnny Appleseed, 38 to 0.

The Bulldogs defeated Bellville, 18 to 7; Mt. Gilead, 6 to 0, Ashland 19 to 13; Mt. Vernon, 44 to 0, and tied Galion, 7 to 7, before the Appleseed contest.

Entertainment has been arranged with Shirley Lay, girl accordianist playing a few numbers and Clarence Mason, Bulldog end, singing several vocal renditions.

PILES ARE NEVER MILD

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Illini Needs Win For Title

CHICAGO—(INS)—A job of grim goaltending such as has rarely been matched in Western conference history today provided the ways and means by which a title-starved Illinois eleven had all but pocketed its first Big Nine football crown since 1928.

A quick look at the standings tells the story. Illinois and Michigan are all that remains of the title chase. Each has one game to play.

An Illinois victory over Northwestern next Saturday would clinch the pennant for the Illini; but even should the Illinois team get no better than a tie, Michigan must beat Ohio State to tie for the title; and should Illinois lose, Michigan must tie the Buckeyes to share the crown.

Only a Michigan victory, combined with an Illinois loss, can win the flag for the Wolverines.

And you could attribute this state of affairs to a few fellows named Zatkof, Owens, Agase, Wenskunas, Prymuski and Friends—in short, an Illinois forward wall which stopped Ohio State four times within the Illini 20-yard line Saturday and dished up a 16-to-7 triumph therefrom.

It was cold, and it was raining, and you couldn't tell the players from the mud with or without a scorecard, but the 61,519 Dad's day fans at Champaign, Ill., didn't seem to mind.

Michigan, meanwhile, kept its head above water by delivering an expected 28-to-6 triumph at the expense of Wisconsin.

Iowa still had a mathematical chance at the crown, but an Illinois victory or a Hawkeye defeat would have ended it.

Chicago Stags Win Over Rebels, 78-76

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Despite Mel Riebe's spectacular scoring spree which netted them 31 points, the Cleveland Rebels bowed to the Chicago Stags, 78 to 76, last night for their second straight loss in the Basketball Association of America.

Riebe, top scorer among the professionals before entering the navy, hit the hoops for 13 field goals and five free throws, but his performance was offset by Chicago's Chuck Halbert and Slats Zalofsky who accounted for 42 points between them.

Cleveland trailed by a single goal at halftime, 37-35, but fell 10 points behind by the opening of the hectic fourth period. The Rebels absorbed their first defeat in an overtime game at St. Louis last Saturday.

Browns Play New York; Chicago Leads West

All-America conference football fans were able today to look ahead to a Cleveland Brown-New York Yankee playoff for the championship, although the regular season still has four weeks to go.

The Yanks clinched the eastern title yesterday with a 10 to 9 victory over San Francisco, while the Browns moved very close to the western flag by humbling Chicago, 51 to 14. The Browns can be beaten out only if they lose all three remaining games while Los Angeles wins its four games. San Francisco could tie by winning its three while Cleveland lost three.

San Francisco led the Yankees, 7 to 3, until late in the last quarter when Ace Parker passed to Eddie Prokop for a touchdown. Harvey Johnson, who had kicked a field goal in the second quarter, made his 25th straight conversion and that was the ball game. The 49ers scored on a field goal by Joe Vetrano and on a run by John Stryzykalski. Vetrano's kick after the TD was blocked.

Los Angeles helped New York to its title by whipping Brooklyn, 19 to 14. The Dodgers were the Yankees' chief competitor. Glenn Dobbs gave a great passing show, completing 21 of 35 throws for 263 yards, but proved to be the "goat" when he stepped out of the end zone trying to pass in the last quarter. The two-point safety proved to be the winning points for the Dons, although Joe Aguirre added a field goal.

Upsets on the fields and customers in the stands remained the plot of the National football league's success story today, with the eastern division still a four-team race led by the New York Giants, while the Chicago Bears paced the west.

Yesterday's five games drew 179,001, a total second only to the record 208,862 on Nov. 10, and the biggest surprise was the tenacity of the Boston Yanks, who have not won a game all year but still held the Giants o a 28 o 28 tie ta New York.

Pittsburgh took second place in the east with a mild upset, 10 to 7 over Philadelphia, and the New York-Pittsburgh game next Sunday took on importance; the Chicago Bears beat Washington, 24 to 20; the Los Angeles Rams downed the Chicago Cardinals, 17 to 14, and Green Bay bumped Detroit, 9 to 0.

Bill Dudley's field goal with 40 seconds to play gave Pittsburgh its triumph over the Eagles.

Sid Luckman shaded Sammy Baugh in a passing duel at Chicago. The Bear star passed for one touchdown and a pass set up another score.

Wilson To Discuss Rose Bowl Plans

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—K. L. "Tug" Wilson, Western conference athletic commissioner, and a five-man committee were en route by plane today for Berkeley, Cal., where they will meet Tuesday with officials of the Pacific Coast league to discuss plans for the next Rose Bowl game.

A spokesman for the committee said the plan to make the game an interconference affair may be delayed a year if Army, which has indicated it might accept a bowl bid, could appear there this year.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

Arthur Kober is distinctly an extrovert, but one night he had a dream that he thinks has Freudian connotations. He dreamed that he was marooned on a desert island with nothing to eat and nothing to do.

He hadn't seen a soul in months—especially a girl—when suddenly a canoe came heading his way and out of it stepped the South American bombshell, Miss Carmen Miranda. She was in her usual fetching costume with a typical Miranda headdress, and she held out her arms invitingly.

With a hoarse cry of joy, Kober rushed up, seized her hat and ate every bit of food on it.

"School facilities, Mr. Dillingham?" repeated the real-estate agent. "I assure you, sir, that there is a big, modern school within a stone's throw of this beautiful estate."

Mr. Dillingham had good cause to believe the agent, for at this precise moment a stone the size of a cantaloupe hit him squarely over the left ear.

THE PICTURE IN STEEL
1939 vs. THIRD QUARTER 1946
PRODUCTION UP 55%
WEEKLY WAGES UP 63%
STEEL PRICES UP 18%
OR LESS THAN HALF A CENT PER POUND

STEEL MILLS are working day and night. Steel production is setting peacetime records. This is good news for you.

In one way or another steel helps make almost everything you use—cars, washing machines, refrigerators and countless other things.

By pushing its production to record-breaking volume, the steel industry is helping hundreds of other industries get going.

However, the mills are not yet able to supply the full demand for steel. This is largely due to the loss of 12,000,000 tons of steel production this year from strikes in steel, coal and other industries.

The mills are trying hard to make up the lost output. If the present production pace can be continued, there should be enough steel for normal needs before many months are past.

Bedtime Stories

SLOWPOKE SHUTS UP

Like so many people who have nothing special to do Peter Rabbit often becomes too curious about the affairs of other people. He means no harm. Usually he does no real harm by his curiosity, but it sometimes is most annoying to others. It was to Slowpoke the Turtle. Peter had been pestering him with questions about when and where he was going to sleep for the winter. Slowpoke finally lost patience and suggested that Peter mind his own business.

"I thought that if I knew what kind of a hole you like that some one else has dug I might be able to find one for you and save you all the work of digging a hole yourself," said Peter.

Before Slowpoke could make reply, a slight sound up the Crooked Little Path drew Peter's attention. Coming around a turn in the Crooked Little Path was an old acquaintance. He wore a black mask across his face and rings on his tail.

"Here comes Bobby Coon!" said Peter.

Slowpoke, who had just come out into the Crooked Little Path, stopped for the first time since he had started to look for a place in which to spend the winter. "Is he coming this way?" asked Slowpoke. He was too low, his legs being so short, to see up to where Bobby Coon was.

"Yes," said Peter. "I guess he sees you for he is coming a little faster. Are you afraid of him? I have heard that he has a liking for Turtles and sometimes catches one of your cousins at the Smiling Pool," said Peter.

"No," said Slowpoke, "I'm not afraid of that fellow, but he can be a great nuisance. I want to be on my way to find a place to sleep through the winter, but I can't while he is around.

Looking into Slowpoke's small eyes of bright red Peter saw no fear there, only annoyance. "I should think you would be afraid. If your cousins are afraid of him why aren't you? asked Peter.

"Why should I be?" hissed Slowpoke. "He can't hurt me and he knows he can't. Watch and you'll see."

Bobby Coon was near enough now for Slowpoke to see him. Peter discreetly drew aside. This was a time for politeness. Bobby Coon never had tried to catch him but Peter suspected that this might be because Bobby knew he couldn't run fast enough for that. He had a feeling that Bobby would be quite as pleased with a Rabbit dinner as with a Turtle dinner.

Bobby stopped a few feet in front of Slowpoke. "Well, well, well, if here isn't my old friend Slowpoke!" exclaimed Bobby Coon. He paid no attention to Peter.

Slowpoke's eyes seemed to grow redder than ever. "I'm no friend of yours and you know it," he hissed.

"I've never seen you looking so well. You are positively fat. You must have had good eating," continued Bobby, moving a step nearer.

Slowpoke hissed sharply and Bobby stood still. "I remember now that you are fond of berries and there was a big crop of them this year. I'm fond of them myself," said Bobby. He took another short step.

Again Slowpoke hissed. It was an ugly sound. Again Bobby stood still. Slowpoke had been standing as high as he could on those short legs of his, and his head had been stretched up. Now he slowly lowered himself and as slowly drew his head back and in. All the time he kept his eyes fixed on Bobby Coon.

Without warning Bobby Coon suddenly leaped for Slowpoke. He wasn't quick enough. Slowpoke was still there, yet he wasn't there. Anyway, he wasn't where Bobby could lay so much as a single claw on him. He had simply shut up. You see, Slowpoke is a Box Turtle. He carries his house with him. In a flash he had drawn himself inside and closed the two doors. They were so tightly closed that there wasn't a crack big enough for Bobby Coon to get even a single claw in. You know the bottom half of that shell, which is his house, is divided into two doors hinged together.

The next story: "On His Way."

John H. Leiter's Been Handling Mansfield's Mail for 39 Years

Took Postal Exam On a Dare, Got Job In 1907.

By ALVIN PREYER

John H. Leiter, 63, of the Mansfield post office, can look back to the time when, as a carrier, he handled the Christmas parcel mail all by himself in one corner of the post office. That was in 1907, his first Christmas as a post office employe.

This Christmas, 39 years later, as superintendent of mail, and as the employe with the longest service at the post office, Leiter will supervise the handling of Christmas package mail at the 125-mail-sack rack that expansion has required.

Born in Lucas, Leiter came t. Mansfield in 1903. He joined the post office staff in 1907.

"It's funny how I got the job," he chuckled. "A friend who was taking the examination dared me to compete with him. I took the dare. I got the job. He didn't."

* * *

Came Up Through Ranks

"When I first came to the post office in 1907, I never expected one day to be the employe with the longest service." "But here I am—not the oldest employe, be sure you say that," he warned, "but with the longest service."

"I have been through the ranks. I began as substitute carrier and moved up to carrier, foreman, assistant superintendent of mail and, in 1943, I was appointed to superintendent the job I hold at present.

"The most impressive thing I can recall during my 39 years here is the continued expansion we have undergone. When I began we had about 25 employes, including carriers. Today we have about 120."

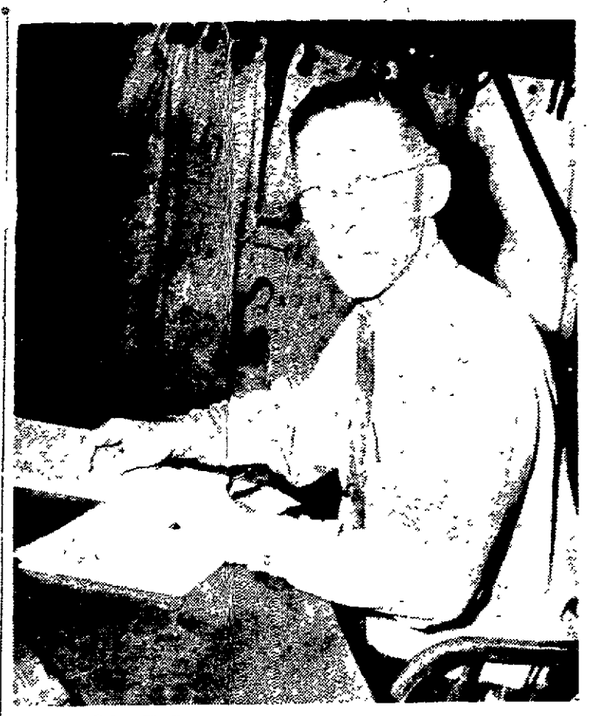
Baseball His Favorite.

"I like most any hobby except golf," Leiter replied to a query as to what he did with his free time. "I never got around to trying golf, or maybe I'd like it too. Baseball is my favorite."

Asked what advice he could offer a young man interested in a postal career, Leiter replied quickly.

"A young fellow interested in a postal career should remember that it's not easy. It's all work and more work. When you see a carrier with an empty pack remember that not long ago it was a full one.

"However, the service has its rewards in many ways. Outstanding of which are the fellowship and good atmosphere in which to work. Here's a pretty good slogan to go by in the postal business—or in any business for that matter," Leiter said as he pointed to a sign over his desk:



John H. Leiter . . . worked up at post office.

"When faith is lost,
When honor dies,
Then man is dead."

Leiter, who lives with his wife at 184 Park avenue east, is a member of the Venus lodge of the Masons.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

We want from three to five energetic, seasoned young men who are interested in going into business for themselves, to take over and completely operate a well established and successful manufacturing business.

This central Ohio company has manufactured for many years a fine household product of nation-wide acceptance, heavily protected by patents.

The factory is completely equipped and tooled ready for immediate production and has a large supply of material on hand.

Only young, hard-hitting practical men, capable of handling industrial relations as they exist today, and who firmly believe the only equitable way to calculate wages is on the basis of work accomplished, will be of interest to us.

The organization will require an office executive, with knowledge of cost accounting and purchasing, a bang-up production man, a metal man who understands metal forming, welding, cleaning and enameling and one who has inventive genius and the ability to design and make tools.

If you possess one or more of the above qualifications and can gather around yourself a group who collectively possess all of these qualifications, we can offer you a lifetime proposition, the earnings from which are limited only by your ability to produce.

Only sufficient capital will be required to finance yourselves for one turn over period, which is approximately six weeks. If you want to get into business for yourselves and are willing to work harder and longer than your employees for the sake of independence and profits, this may be YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

Address your reply Box 287, News-Journal, Mansfield, Ohio.

HELP! HELP!
I NEED HELP NOW!!

We called an electrician to make repairs on our dishwashing machine today, and in his work he broke a lead sewer pipe that can only be repaired by a master plumber. We then called a master plumber who was out of town and his men would not take the job without notice from him. We then called the master plumber who installed the plumbing, and he could not touch the job because of union regulations.

I would appreciate it very much if I could reach a master plumber who will do the job so we can operate the diner as it is the only means of support for me and my employees.

The 20th day of March, 1946, I called a master plumber, a master carpenter, and master electrician, to repair an apartment building so as to give some of my employees a place to live. I was to have possession by a real estate man within 30 days, instead the tenants took advantage of the OPA ruling, and remained six months and ten days. In the meantime the plumber, the carpenter and the electrician began to remodel under very trying circumstances and abuse from the tenants, but they did succeed in doing part of the work but not completing the job at the cost of around $5000. The master carpenter notified me that he would guarantee a gas furnace before winter. As my employees now occupy this house, they insist that I furnish sufficient heat to keep their families warm. I called on people who sell gas appliances and told them that under the law of Ohio the landlord is responsible for the welfare of his tenants as to heat and water. They told me that under the new ruling that these tenants were not entitled to a gas furnace, that only those that were fortunate enough to buy new homes were entitled to this luxury.

I served in World War I, in 1898 in the Philippines, and in my humble way did my part in World War II. I felt as a good soldier and citizen to make it possible for every man to be equal. I do not feel that I'm any better than any other citizen in Mansfield, but I do feel an equal. I feel that my employees and I are entitled to the necessities of life as long as we are able to pay for them.

So, as much as it hurts to call on old friends, the only way I can possibly think of to reach some help is through the columns of the Mansfield News-Journal.

Signed.

FOUR HIT-RUN DRIVERS SOUGHT

Three persons were injured in automobile accidents over the weekend, while four automobiles were damaged by hit-skip drivers, police reported today.

Most seriously injured was Charles Knighten, 60, of 222½ North Main street, a pedestrian, who suffered a broken left hip when he was struck by an automobile Saturday night at Sixth and Main streets.

Peter A. Kilfer, 262 Central avenue, driver of the car, told police he failed to see Knighten when making a right turn on a green light while the pedestrian was crossing with the light. Knighten was taken to the Mansfield Sanitarium-Hospital.

Phyllis Gore, 17, of Lexington, suffered a possible concussion and Harley Westfall, 23, of Trailer city, Mansfield, received multiple face lacerations when the automobile in which they were passengers collided Saturday night.

Miss Gore was a passenger in a car driven by Gene H. Heidlebaugh, 17, of Lexington, R. D. 2. Westfall was riding with Cecil S. Stone, 35, Bellville, R. D. 2.

Police said the two cars collided at Lexington and Sturges avenues at 11 p. m. Saturday. Heidlebaugh told police his car was in collision with Stone's vehicle while he was making a left turn at the intersection.

Hit-skip victims included A. T. Corey, 319 Newman street, who told police his automobile was damaged when struck by an unidentified automobile Saturday morning on Newman street. The left front fender, running board and doors were damaged.

Mrs. Natalie DePue, 420 Bowman street, reported her car was struck by a hit-skipper at 8 p. m. Saturday at Hedges and East Second streets.

A passenger, Jo Hager, South Diamond street, was treated by a physician for shock. The car was turned around by the force of the impact, and the right rear fender, door and running board were damaged.

An automobile operated by Harold McClain, 245 East Third street, was struck by a hit-skip driver at 12:30 a. m. Sunday at Wayne and Grace streets. McClain said his car was hit while he was waiting for a traffic light to change. Left fenders, right running board and left doors were damaged.

Harold Dinger, Mansfield, R. D. 3, told police his automobile was damaged at 11:30 p. m. Sunday when struck by a hit-skipper in the 400 block of West Fourth street.

Coal Strike Impends As Nation Shivers

ARRIVAL of colder weather tends to give added emphasis to the importance of preventing any interruption of soft coal production and stresses the absurdity of permitting John L. Lewis to jockey himself into a position in which he can dictate that the entire nation shall suffer unless agencies of government accede to his demands.

The government has already seized control of all soft coal supplies and a drastic rationing plan has been put into effect which will quickly hamper industrial and transportation operations unless some way is found to continue coal production after the Wednesday night deadline set by Lewis.

Little hope is being held out for success of the government's direct appeal to miners to continue at work, despite Lewis' stop order, although they have been clearly told that their contract continues effective for "the period of government possession."

There is talk of a court test of the matter under the Smith-Connelly Act, with suggestion that Lewis may be arrested and imprisoned as the instigator of a strike in a government-seized industry—but even this would not serve the purpose of producing coal and would place Lewis in a "martyr" position which might even make the present critical situation worse, insofar as the attitude of the actual miners of coal is concerned.

What is needed, it appears, is a more intelligent and practicable way of settling labor-management controversies than has yet been developed in this country—but the immediate, urgent problem is to prevent suspension of soft coal production . . . and it seems doubtful, at the moment, if this can be done.

Congress Must Reform Itself

WHEN the 79th congress passed the Legislative Reorganization Act last July to "improve" congressional procedure, reform did not automatically come about. The next congress, newly elected, is going to have a lot of work, and much interrank opposition on its hands before any real streamlining of house and senate will be apparent.

The reorganization plan is backed by strong public support, including the National Planning Association and the vocal and intelligent League of Women Voters. Nevertheless the suggested consolidation and elimination of committees is opposed by many able men who fear committee consolidation will lead to concentrated political power.

Some see in a unified military affairs committee too much work for one group to handle, though this probably is an expression of the army-navy merger disagreement. Congressmen are worried, too, over the reform plank that would reduce constituent contacts. While is is a back-breaking job for all congressmen, it is their touch with the voters at home, which they don't want to weaken.

The American people will do well to watch what the 80th congress does with the reform of itself. After all, the law has been passed and must be obeyed. Congress has become so unwieldy that its efficiency has been greatly reduced. Reorganization is advisable, whether legislators want it or not.

When Outgo Exceeds Income

CLAIM by an executive of the Ford Motor company that a loss of $51,600,000 resulted from operation of that company during the first nine months of this year may be accepted as fact unless evidence is presented to the contrary.

This is something that needs be taken into account—by employes and employers alike — as indications point to another wave of strikes in industrial plants. Wage increases already in effect in the automotive industry were accompanied by price raises deemed sufficient to cover higher operating costs, but this apparently hasn't worked out insofar as the Ford company is concerned.

It is unlikely that even the most ardent advocates of higher wages will contend that businesses—big or little—can continue to operate at a loss to owners or stockholders.

Possibly a restoration of full production, with a ready market for all products at stiffly increased prices, would eventually wipe out losses and restore reasonable profits on invested capital—but it is the immediate situation that demands serious thought by those who disregard the association between wages, prices and profits.

Chief Causes of Fires Revealed

ACCORDING to a survey by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, based upon claim records covering a five-year period, three out of four fires start from causes involving carelessness, inattention, or plain accidents. Most of these fires could be prevented by good housekeeping and cautious habits.

Almost 30 per cent of fires result from careless use of matches and smoking materials. More than 10 per cent are caused by defective electric wiring and appliances. Over 23 per cent stem from lack of care in the use of cooking and heating equipment. And more than 11 per cent are the result of carelessness with open lights and inflammable liquids.

Here is a tragic tribute to carelessness, indifference and plain laziness which will cost some $600,000,000 in property values and more than 10,000 lives this year. Failure to replace a dollar light cord may destroy a $25,000 home, and its occupants with it. The kind of "economy" that prevents calling the furnace man when the heating plant acts up may result in a holocaust. And the housewife who uses gasoline to clean her clothes at home is inviting disaster.

Beware of 'That Tired Feeling'

THERE'S no such thing as "that tired feeling" once widely advertised by many patent medicines. Mostly, says the American Congress of Physical Therapy, the tired sensation is the outcropping of a guilty conscience, whose owner knows that he ought to do a particular job which he dislikes.

So the office boy who doesn't empty the waste basket, or the husband who fails to beat the carpet, or the wife who is too tired to get her husband's breakfast, cannot take refuge in medicine. The best cure is to make the tired person "get on with the job."

The sense of achievement which comes from a homely duty well done is just wonderful, psychologists tell us.

Now is the time for short-lived prominence of "favorite sons"—from which, according to the Constitution, no name is barred.

Harry Wade detects a silver lining in the rice shortage—it also means a scarcity of rice pudding.

Rivalry Between Army and Navy Extends to Hospital Facilities

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Truman is a sincere, hard-plugging advocate of unified armed services, but he should persuade his army to obey the policy of its commander-in-chief.

At present the army is building a special wing to Walter Reed hospital at 12th and Dahlia streets in Washington which will exactly duplicate the navy's.

This wing is to take care of the president of the United States.

Simultaneously, the navy also has a floor of its Bethesda naval hospital reserved for the president. It is all set to take care of him at any time.

However, medical officers have changed in the White House and a navy doctor isn't in command any more. The army now runs the show.

Roosevelt, always partial to the navy, appointed Adm. Ross McIntire White House physician. But Truman, who served in the army, selected Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham as White House physician.

And of course an army doctor does not like to practice in a naval hospital Therefore the army medical corps, wanting to avoid the humility of sending the president to a naval hospital, authorized a new wing to the Walter Reed army hospital. Thus, at the expense of thousands of feet of scarce lumber, tons of strategic metal and several thousand bricks, the special wing for the president is being built.

Note—One purpose of army-navy unification was to prevent duplication and cut down expenses.

Republicans Eye Jobs.

With the Republicans back in power in congress, a move to put Republicans into important executive offices can be expected. President Truman will have to give Republicans increasing patronage in order to get senate confirmation of Democratic appointees to the cabinet and other posts.

One early arrival in Washington may be Nelson Rockefeller, who never liked being booted out of his job as assistant secretary of state by Truman. Rockefeller has been keeping his hand in at the diplomatic game by entertaining United Nations delegates, and, shortly after the elections, he confided to a friend at the United Nations:

"I guess I'll be back in Washington soon, now that my party won the elections."

Capital Chaff.

All cabinet members are strengthening their legal staffs, knowing they face the most exhaustive series of congressional investigations in the last twenty years . . . George Creel, who master-minded U. S. propaganda in World War I, helped Adm. Ross T. McIntire write his new book, "White House Physician," the inside story of Roosevelt's losing battle for life. . . . Foreign governments have been snapping up New Deal talent. Former Treasury Attorney John Pehle is working for the French, Oscar Cox does legal work for the Italians, and Tommy Corcoran conducts numerous legal operations for the Chinese. . . . Conservatives in the SEC are making a determined effort to move that one-time anti-Wall Street organization from Philadelphia to New York, where it would be in Wall Street's hip pocket. . . . From a three-column Wall Street Journal story telling about GOP plans for the new congress comes this small but significant paragraph: "The Republican program for social legislation has not been worked out in as much detail as the plans for budget and tax reductions." . . . Nine members of the new senate are former newspapermen and publishers; three are former teachers. Sixty-four senators are lawyers. . . . One old member of the house whom Republicans returned after a brief absence is Pennsylvania's Jimmy Van Zandt who had a 100 per cent zero record in the 76th, 77th and 78th congress on progressive and war legislation.

New Naval Boss.

Navy enlisted men will find they have a new friend among the top brass in Assistant Secretary of the Navy John Nicholas Brown, of Newport, R. I. Millionaire Brown, who traces his ancestry directly to the Roger Williams expedition which settled Rhode Island in 1636, can point to a rich naval background.

A member of his family, John Brown, led the first American naval expedition when, with a party of men disguised as Indians, he boarded and burned the British frigate Gaspee in Narragansett Bay shortly before the Boston Tea Party. A brother of this John Brown was a founder of Brown university, named for the family of the new assistant secretary of the navy.

Brown himself served as an enlisted seaman in the first World war, and caused plenty of headaches among the supply officers. He stands six feet five inches in height, and the navy simply couldn't find a uniform to fit him.

His mother, trying to be helpful, ordered a uniform from the family tailor in Newport, but it was found to be nonregulation. Fortunately for everyone, it was stolen the first night after it arrived.

Although his family background was strictly GOP, Brown was a supporter of Al Smith in 1928 and of the late President Roosevelt in his first, second and fourth campaigns for the White House He backed FDR despite his experience in World War I with the "Roosevelt cot."

The Roosevelt cot was a special sleeping contraption invented by FDR while he was assistant secretary of the navy, the job Brown now holds. When Brown enlisted, he was assigned a Roosevelt cot—which was not adjustable to his height. So he slept with that part of his body between his ears and ankles on the cot—the rest hanging over. The first night, the cot broke, but Brown was so tired from drilling that he slept through till morning. He awoke to find his head and feet on the floor, his middle on what was left of the cot.

"In spite of that," says the new assistant secretary of the navy, "I voted for Roosevelt."

THE REPUBLICANS promise income tax cuts right away and I'm afraid the people will resent it if they are asked to feel so good so suddenly.

* * *

They've become so used to paying big income taxes that it's a habit and when a habit like that has kept a man in a hole for years he can't break it off fast. He should be allowed to taper off gradually.

* * *

Lots of Americans are going to feel pretty bad if they wake up at the end of a year and discover they have been able to keep something for a rainy day, with no questionnaires attached. It ain't going to seem right.

* * *

And if the GOP starts in with tax cuts it is going to lose the notary public vote right off the reel, not to mention the votes of the income ax advisers, accountants and consultants. Go slow on tax cuts, boys; it's going to break a lot of hearts!

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

Bitter Recollection Of Dreadful Order.

WASHINGTON — Perhaps this sort of thing has happened to others, too. Even so, it's a hard story to tell.

The colonel was standing at the bar when I entered the room. Still handsome and hearty, he hadn't changed much. When I first saw him, I stopped stock-still, expecting a shock of violent emotion.

There was none. The only reaction was memory which played a slow, methodical re-run of the last time we had met.

The lieutenant who entered the underground haven which served as regimental command post was a good friend of mine—in the way that men you've only known three days can be good friends.

I wondered what brought a rifle platoon leader back that far, especially that night

So did the colonel. His eyebrows arched.

"Well, lieutenant?" he queried testily.

My friend's tired mockery of a salute as he entered the canvas-covered cellar door had epitomized his awful weariness.

"I came back with the runner, Colonel," he said slowly, "just to be sure there wasn't a mistake in the message. Battalion couldn't understand it either, but they said it seemed to be straight."

It seemed to me that the colonel stiffened slightly. Then he relaxed and smiled that warming smile.

"Sit down, lieutenant," he said, gesturing toward a ration box. "You look like you need a drink."

From under the rickety table over which his maps were spread he pulled a bottle. The lieutenant took it, tipped it, swallowed heavily twice, mopped his bearded mouth dry with the back of his dirty hand, then passed the bottle. All the time, his eyes watched the colonel.

"Cheers," said the colonel, and drank. Then: "What message?"

"The one about the patrol, sir," said the lieutenant. "It said for me to put a patrol into town by midnight."

"Yes," said the colonel shortly, corking the bottle. "That's right."

"Colonel, sir," said the lieutenant, pacing his words like a memorized prayer, "we might get a few men in there when the whole division attacks at dawn. Before then, it's suicide."

The colonel sighed dramatically. "I know that, Lieutenant," he said. "But tomorrow morning, army will announce the attack to the newspapermen, such as our friend here"—he gestured jovially at me—"and the general told me that the communique should simultaneously say that American soldiers have entered the town. We couldn't get word back to army soon enough, after dawn. . ."

There was a long silence. Then, softly:

"I see, sir. And what did you tell the General?"

"I promised him," barked the colonel belligerently, "that shortly after dawn, or sooner, he would have on his desk a message that my men were in town!"

"Dead or alive," the lieutenant added tonelessly. The colonel's manner changed. First he stiffened, then he became affable.

"Look, lieutenant," he said gently. "These things happen in war. Adjust yourself to them. Just pick five men you can get along without and send them into town. Then send word back here—and forget it."

There were many stinking officers in this war just past. There also were some unbelievably wonderful ones. The lieutenant stood up.

"If that's the way it is," he said, "I'll take the patrol in myself."

The colonel's head jerked up. Obviously he was going to forbid it. But suddenly he paused, speculatively, his face hardening. "Perhaps it's better that way, lieutenant," he said.

The one badly-wounded soldier who miraculously managed to make it back to our lines just before dawn said that the others were dead.

And then I swore bitterly that some day, after the war—which the colonel most likely would survive—I'd find him and settle the score for my friend and the three soldiers who died with him to keep the colonel's communique promise.

The sequel is the hard part. Seeing him there at the bar, it would have been so easy to have torn the colonel apart—verbally or physically. But my only real reaction was to be glad that he'd gotten only one promotion since, from silver leaf to "chicken."

So many things had happened since that even a once-horrible hatred had faded. So when he saw me and waved, all I did was nod and turn away, damning myself as I did.

I wonder how many others have done the same.

Georgia Baptists Condemn Race Prejudice.

WASHINGTON—It seems that they have let Jesus back into Georgia.

Maybe He was there all the time, the Invisible Guest, looking on sorrowfully when that mob lined up four Negroes along a country road—two men and two women—and shot them down in cold blood a few months back.

Perhaps He has been wandering about the state, talking quietly in that still, small voice which is the conscience of men and women.

Certainly He had a seat somewhere among the white and Negro Baptist ministers who sat down together in fellowship in Savannah and prayed for Gene Talmadge who has used the racial issue to get himself elected governor.

At the session of the Georgia Baptist convention the following day He had a champion in the former marine corps chaplain, the Rev. Joseph A. Rabun, who wrestled with his colleagues in floor debate until he got a strong resolution condemning race discrimination.

The Rev. Mr. Rabun aroused the convention by telling his fellow ministers that he had fought against prejudice and oppression in other lands and it was just as right to fight it in Georgia.

He wanted a resolution that was forthright and would apply "the principles of Jesus to allay growing race tensions spotlighted by Georgia lynchings and recent Columbian disturbances in Atlanta." He got it, after some controversy, and unanimously.

A brother minister protested and asked for "a safe and sane" resolution, to which the ex-marine retorted "Our Lord was not safe and sane." We sometimes forget that.

What happened among the Baptist ministers at Savannah in convention assembled is the most encouraging thing for Georgia since the state was turned back to Gene Talmadge in last summer's primary election.

It is only fair to recall that a majority of Georgia voters cast their ballots against Gene Talmadge but were cheated by the antique county-unit system.

When I was growing up in Georgia, though it may only have been church and family pride, it was said that 51 per cent of Georgia voters were Baptist. At least a substantial percentage are. What happened at Savannah means something.

Churches are the greatest influence in most Georgia communities, as throughout the South. From the pulpit there can be nurtured a spirit of tolerance that will grow like a consuming fire behind such figures as Gene Talmadge in Georgia, and Senator Bilbo and Rep. Rankin in Mississippi.

The marine chaplain who led the battle at Savannah is the Baptist minister in Gene Talmadge's home town of McRae. Gene Talmadge is a Baptist. So is Senator Bilbo.

It takes courage still in Georgia and the South to do what the Rev. Mr. Rabun did. It takes courage also to stand up for the rights of workers in the South. More ministers now are doing that.

Maneuverings By Lewis Are Complicated.

WASHINGTON — Because the negotiations have been proceeding in a series of complicated moves difficult to follow, the general public has not been aware of how much turns on the outcome of John L. Lewis' newest demands for his coal miners. Personalities and politics are deeply involved in this savage tug-of-war.

If Lewis gets all that he is asking from the government—and that is plenty—it will be the signal for the second round of strikes.

The CIO unions will have to follow the Lewis lead. They will have to ask for even more because of the intensive competitiveness between the AFL and CIO.

But the CIO unions are not in the same position as Lewis and his miners. They will face not the government but private owners determined not to yield and backed by an aroused public opinion. Neither do they have anything like the financial resources which Lewis wields.

There are those who believe that one of Lewis' chief objectives in the present struggle is to wreck the CIO. His hatred of Philip Murray makes the passion felt by certain large employers seem pale by comparison.

Interestingly enough, Lewis' present maneuver coincides with the convention of the CIO in Atlantic City, where, it now seems likely, Murray will be prevailed upon to take another term as CIO chief.

Against this background, Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug, in charge of the coal negotiations for the government, has taken a firm stand He has told the president, not once but several times, that if the government gives in to Lewis, then it will be in the position of actually sponsoring the second round of strikes.

Backed by a strong legal memorandum, Krug insists that the Smith-Connally act will apply if the miners walk out on the ground of "no contract."

Lewis can be punished under the act even though he says that such action would not be a strike, Krug contends.

In making the preliminary moves to checkmate Lewis, Krug, an adroit chess player, has had his eye not merely on Lewis, but on Lewis' good friend in the White House. This friend is John R. Steelman, director of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

Steelman is very close to President Truman. He has also been from time to time very close to Lewis. At least once before, he intervened in a coal dispute which was settled on terms highly favorable to Lewis. But his contact with the United Mine Workers began considerably before that, when, as a college professor, he arbitrated local coal-mine disputes.

While Krug has made no threat of resignation or anything like it, he does make it perfectly clear that he will not back down from a stand he believes to be correct.

Krug's real objective is to turn the mines back to the private operators They are willing to discuss such a move. But at the same time they say they will not accept the terms of the May 29 contract which was signed when the government took over.

Lewis is demanding much more than he gets under that contract. As the negotiations move toward a showdown, Mr. Truman will be on a Florida vacation. Somehow or other, the three men around the chess board—Krug, Lewis and Steelman—will have to play the game to the end.

Farmer's Diary: "Making Applebutter."

THE BOYS hauled the cider from the press three miles away, on Friday after school. Saturday was the day for making applebutter, and weather turned out perfect.

We rolled the 50-gallon barrel up on the porch, and siphoned the cider with a hose into a waiting bucket. Thirty gallons we measured into the huge copper kettle on the tripod, then built a fire beneath. The cider was sweet and mellow, having been made from half pears. We tasted it sparingly, however, having learned certain cider facts the hard way, as a boy.

The pine wood sizzled and smoked at first, then flamed red and hot, and the brown reddish foam gathered over the cidery pool when the contents was more than lukewarm. Later I skimmed the foam off with a perforated ladle while steam moved upward in small whirling clouds and the kettle sang. Soon the surface broke into a fast seething boil, rising at one side and racing down to the other in wild confusion.

Amid smoke and steam and roaring flame I puttered happily, while the boys took turns with ax and saw to make ready more sticks for replenishing those that had become glowing, crackling coals. Often a small green twig would curl and emit a high note as it dropped into a small drift of white ash. The odor of wood smoke mingled with the fragrance of the hot cider. Having no sugar, we boiled 45 gallons, in all, down to about half its bulk before adding 16 gallons of "schnits"—quartered apples for thickening.

During the thickening, we kept the long-handled stirrer going—a constant motion at which each small boy tried his hand, but soon tired. Only older folks are ideal for such a task—"it keeps going around and around without getting anywhere," one small fry complained.

"Spread for your bread, spread for your bread," sang out another. To me, there was something satisfying and nostalgic about the whole process . . . the heavy plop, plop of the thickening butter in the kettle, the appetizing tart odor that mingled with fragrant smoke in the nostrils, the row of brown crocks that waited to receive the finished product.

When a skum had formed across the top, we tied brown paper over each crock using a slice of old inner tubing for a fastener. This will furnish the essence of the apple orchard for many meals. We prefer it, even unsweetened, to any other spread.

Your Figure, Madame

—By Ida Jean Kain

Ask a man if he prefers women fat or thin and he'll hasten to protest that he does not like thin women. He may be quite emphatic about it. Pin him down and ask if he likes women to be fat and he gets out of that one nicely by saying he likes them pleasingly plump, with curves.

But don't let him off so easily. Get his definition of pleasing—5 feet, 6 inches tall and weighing 150 pounds? That's a fine figure of a woman. He'll hedge and say that 150 pounds may be a trifle hefty, and mention 130 or 135 pounds as being just right. You see? He likes them slim, with curves.

And since every "other" woman is slim, that's proof that men do not like women fat, for all their fine talk.

That naturally leads to the question as to whether women reduce to please men, or to compete with other women, which amounts to practically the same thing. At first blush it might seem they do keep their figures to please men. But a more thoughtful analysis shows it's a matter of pride. The woman who has personal pride in her appearance will not allow her figure to slip or slump, or go from a size 16 to a 20. She keeps her figure trim, and she does it to please herself. Agree?

This does not mean they make a career of streamlining, or even spend much time at it. Nor do they "diet." They make a habit of eating within their calorie requirements. They do not stuff. Or they set a limit on the amount they allow their weight to go up. This will be from three to five pounds. They go along, enjoying three meals a day, just like anyone else, but they weigh regularly. As soon as the scales show a three-pound gain they clamp down on unnecessary calories until the pounds are off.

The women who take pride in their figures are usually intelligent about their food habits. They know they can't have their cake and eat it too, so they watch the delectable carbohydrates. Glance at a drug store counter and see who eats the ice cream sodas and sundaes in the middle of the afternoon. It is not the slim, trim women.

Nor do they ever graduate to a larger size dress. Pride again. If they slip a bit and find themselves straining at the seams, they do not have the dress eased here and there, or take a larger size. They take exercise.

One woman with a perfectly lovely figure told me she keep a test skirt. It's an old favorite that she has had for many years. It fits perfectly around the waist and smoothly over the hips. When she suspects she is getting out of shape she hauls out that skirt, and if it's a tight squeeze she starts streamlining.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, November 19.

OPPORTUNITY aspects of inciting planets stimulate the urge for all sorts of special skills, creative ideas of a new or experimental character, in which fresh techniques and sound systems energetically developed and worked to a finish give results. These should be of concrete and definite quality, if attacked with initiative, determination and persistent effort. However, while there may be material cooperation it might be well to carefully examine all such offers before putting operations under subtle dangers or snares.

Those whose birthday it is are under splendid promise for putting over their most enterprising and cherished objectives, or cementing their affairs upon a sound and lasting foundation, largely through their own definite creative abilities or special skills. In this, not only aggressive and persistent efforts are bound to succeed, but by the wise collaboration of those in influence and financial status. But with these there should be vigilance and sagacity lest undercurrents of treachery or intrigue involve matters. Vicious associates should be decisively vanquished.

A child born on this day should have exceptional skills with the ideas and determination to put them over, but is menaced by suspicious affiliations.

Work Finished On Sub-Station

MT. GILEAD—A new 33,000-vote Morrow County REA substation has been put into operation, Howard Clapper, area REA manager, announced today.

Work on the project started nearly nine months ago, and had been scheduled for energizing on two previous occasions, but was delayed by material shortages.

The new transformers replace a 13,200-volt sub-station located near Cardington. The additional voltage of the new station means better voltage regulation for 1,570 REA customers in Morrow, Knox and Richland counties, Clapper said.

Barclay On Bridge

IT IS all well and good to let your partner bid on the basis of his probable reading of what you hold, but not if you are able to tell him the exact truth and eliminate guessing on his part. That principle applies with special strength after you have passed a hand which is practically on the borderline of enough to open the bidding. If your partner then opens it, you must tell him what you know, but he doesn't, by bidding very strongly. Otherwise, your side may miss a game.

	♠ Q 10 ♥ K Q 9 6 ♦ Q 7 3 2 ♣ K 6 4
♠ K J 3 ♥ 10 4 2 ♦ J 9 ♣ A 9 8 5 2	N W E S	♠ 8 7 6 4 2 ♥ J 8 5 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ J 10
	♠ A 9 5 ♥ A 7 3 ♦ K 8 6 4 ♣ Q 7 3

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 NT
Pass	2 NT

South properly passed that, as he had done all the bidding his hand justified, with his opening suit bid followed by his No Trump call. It was not his fault that the pair failed to score a game on the deal.

West opened his club 5, which made the Q good for a trick. The spade 5 was led, West taking his K, scoring his club A and then establishing the suit with a lead to the K, mainly to avoid leading something else and put his partner's cards under the hammer. The diamond 2 was then led from dummy to the K, the spade 5 to the Q, the heart K and A taken, the spade A, then the heart Q, which found the suit breaking and setting up the 9 for the trick which completed the game.

North was at fault in not bidding according to his strength. Some players might be inclined to jump on their first response to the diamond opening to show the hand was close to opening bid strength. But the 1-Heart was a sound response. However, after South bid 1-No Trump, North's correct action was to go all the way to 3-No Trumps instead of only two. There was bound to be a good play for the game, since South had opened in fourth position, even if he held a virtual minimum, as he did.

The ruby is the birthstone for July.

THIS IS O'NEIL'S of Mansfield

"HERE WE GROW AGAIN"

Dear Mansfield:

Big . . . and getting bigger! That's the short story of O'Neil's, Ohio's fastest growing retail store.

O'Neil's, you know, is a part of the May Department Stores, the largest department store company in the country.

And exactly what has that to do with you, when you come shopping at the soon-to-open O'Neil's of Mansfield?

Just this . . . it gives you the backing of a fine merchandising reputation, built up carefully through 69 years. It gives you the benefit of low-price-plus-high-quality which only tremendous buying power like the May group can offer.

But there's one thing about O'Neil's. With all of its big, powerful connections, it always becomes a friendly community store as soon as it opens its doors in any town. Ask Akron . . . O'Neil's is practically a community project there. Ask Massillon and Coshocton, where O'Neil's has become a friendly neighbor in the community in less than a year.

And certainly . . . ask the people who know best about this spirit of friendliness . . . those who are a part of the O'Neil family, and have worked with us for years.

That sets us to thinking about the Mansfield folk who will serve you here before very long . . . well, that's a story in itself! Watch for it in tomorrow's paper!

Sincerely,

O'NEIL'S OF MANSFIELD

Barbara Finds There's Money In Paper Route

By MARGUERITE MILLER

They can't be called News-Journal newsboys this week, because a girl has crept into the picture.

She is Barbara Bradley, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradley, Warren road, who is playing the "middle man" at keeping the route in the family.

Two years ago, Barbara took over the route from her brother, Donald "when he went to the farm." Next spring Barbara is planning to give the route over to her younger sister, Mary, who "helps out a lot now."

Her route, which takes in Warren and Harding roads and two houses on Bowman street, nets $4 a week and has more than amply supplied Barbara with clothes and spending money.

Kenneth Bell, 16, who has carried route 70 on McPherson, Howard, St. Clair and Reed streets and Parnell drive for two years will give up paper peddling next spring for a Saturday night job in the News-Journal office.

The Senior high school sophomore has averaged $12 a week which has paid for a bike, a watch, some clothes and supplied spending money. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bell, sr., 811 Springmill street.

Divide Earnings.

Splitting the work and the profits has worked out fine for Charles Laser, 12, and his sister, Mary Alice, 13, who together get the evening edition around to their subscribers on route 71. The route takes in Springmill, King, France, Arnold, Kohler, Geddes and Armstrong streets.

Children of Mrs. Gifta Laser, 629 Springmill street, Charles and Mary Alice have each averaged between $7 and $8 weekly and have purchased two bicycles and saved $25 for their separate savings accounts. Charles and Mary Alice both are John Simpson Junior high pupils.

Bud Kent is another young fellow who has found that a partnership business is profitable. The 11-year-old and his brother, Dick, make about $12 "on a good week"—$5 in the "bad ones." The sons of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kent, 36 Orchard street, they have served route 101 on Orchard, Lily, Raymond and Daisy streets for two and a half years. But has $11 saved now, and a bike, watch, two footballs and clothes to show for his other savings. He is a sixth grader at Bowman school.

John Atkins, 14, is rounding out his second month this week as a carrier boy on route 93, including Johns, Longview, Fern, Grandview, Herman and Henry avenues and Louise street.

Out of his $4 weekly "take," $2 goes to his mother, Mrs. Frances Atkins, rear 59 Henry street, and the other $2 goes into his personal bank. John is hoping that that savings account will grow towards a bicycle some of these days. He is a seventh grader at John Simpson Junior high school.

Jack Barrett, 12, isn't taking any chances with his weekly proceeds from his route, 76. Each week he gives his money to his mother who saves it for him.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Barrett, 656 Bowman street, Jack has carried papers for the past three months on Bowman and Madison streets, Shelby, Crestline and Longview avenue. He is also in the seventh grade at John Simpson.
